The prior art neither discloses nor suggests the following limitation in an anti-carcinogenic night light comprising a light for emitting a visible light emission having a wavelength between approximately 610 and approximately 760 nanometers, in combination with the remaining elements disclosed in claims 1, 6-12:

A light sensor connected between the light and the power source for switching off the light when ambient light is detected, and for switching on the light when ambient light is not detected such as required by claim 1;

A monitor sensor selected from at least one of a group consisting of: an electric power failure sensor, a smoke detector, a heat detector, an oxygen detector, a carbon dioxide detector, a carbon monoxide detector, a radon detector, a propane detector, a radiological substance detector, a bacteriological substance detector, a noxious fume detector, a poisonous gas detector, and a sound detector; and an alarm for being triggered when a pre-selected threshold level is detected by the monitor sensor such as required by claim 6;

A refrigerator door for mounting the light inside of the refrigerator door, so that the light activates when the refrigerator door is opened such as required by claim 8;

A clock face over the emission from the light for supplying visible light to the clock face such as required by claim 9;

Art Unit: 2821

A wrist watch face over the emission from the light, for supplying visible light to the wrist watch face an adapter for attaching the anti-carcinogenic light to an existing night light, and for converting the existing night light to emit visible light solely between the wavelength of approximately 610 to approximately 760 nanometers such as required by claim 10;

Preventing disruptions of secretions of pineal glands of sleeping, sleepy or dozing humans and animals that are located in the darkened or semi-darkened environments where the night light is located such as required by claim 12.
